THE GAZETTE.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1888.

Mr J K Handley, wife and son have gone east for a visit with friends.

Our circulator wants a boy on the front route. Call from 11 to 12 o'clock to-day.

Mr E P McElroy of Hartford has stocked his fish pond with native trout.

Mr. James McMannus of Harvard was among Dardo citizens on the narrow gauge yesterday.

The oat crop on the Divide has been greater than a majority of the ranchmen anticipated.

A party of thirty persons came over from Manitou last night to attend the minstrel performance.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church netted about $300 by their entertainment on Thursday evening.

Mr G W Musser leaves for Monument to-day to begin his winter's work as principal of the Monument school.

A warrant was issued in Judge Shelder's court yesterday against a man in the south part of town for stealing coal.

John Hipp will hold a public meeting at Colorado City to-night and will discuss the prohibition question pro and con.

Thieves entered the house of Mr T B Reeves one night this week, but were frightened away before securing any booty.

There will be a meeting of the B P Crowell Hose company this evening. All members are requested to be present.

Walter E White only son of Mr. and Mrs C H White, of this city, died yesterday afternoon. He was in the 20th year of his age.

The weather permitting the High School and College base ball clubs will meet in friendly rivalry on the diamond this morning.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Benning, aged 29 years, occurred yesterday afternoon. The remains were interred at Evergreen cemetery.

Mr Joseph E Reynolds of Husted has moved into his new residence. Mr Reynolds has built one of the most beautiful homes in the county.

After the meeting of the prohibition county convention yesterday a paper was passed around and nineteen names were secured to full completion.

The prohibitionists should have called their convention two weeks earlier and saved the GAZETTE a couple or three columns of composition on dust letters.

Mr. Thomas Barber has opened a turning and scroll sawing shop at 23 South Cascade avenue. Those desiring work in that line will do well to consult him.

Dana Curtis attempted to hinder a policeman while taking some cattle to the pound. Yesterday he was taken before Justice Shideler and fined $10 and costs. He appealed the case to the county court.

Coroner Davis has heard from the friends of the man killed at Husted by the Santa Fe cars a week or so ago. He was a Greek, and his friends live in Alabama. He was expecting to return home at the time he was killed.

The republican state central committee assigned Honorable W. G. Smith and Samuel Messenger to address the voters of this city on Monday evening next, but after consultation with the managers the date has been cancelled.

Passengers on the Leadville trains yesterday reported a heavy snow storm prevailing throughout the mountains. The snow fell to the depth of about three inches and was reported as far down the foot-hills as farther into the mountains.

President R R Cable, of the Rock Island railroad, accompanied by Mr H S Cable President Low, of the C. K. & N. railroad, and a party of gentlemen from Topeka, Kansas, arrived in the city and registered at The Antlers yesterday.

On Wednesday evening Miss Izant read an essay on Russia at the house of Dr Solly. The entertainment had two good qualities. It gave the audience a delightful evening and the treasury of Bethune sanitarium an addition of sixty dollars.

The county commissioners are in good most of yesterday in the consideration of bills. The following were allowed: H H Stevens, $1; O Norman, $6; A J Brazelton $23.40. The petition to vacate the lane on lots 27 and 28 block 158 was granted.

Mr E P Moon of Husted has furnished us with the following weather record for the week ending October 5th. Highest temperature, 86° on the 30th, lowest temperature 31° on the 28th, weekly mean temperature, 59°. Prevailing direction of the wind, south.

The prohibition meeting called at court house hall last night was adjourned to the corner of Tejon and Pike's Peak avenue. There was but a small crowd there could stand the cold and Shipp was the only one to remain throughout the meeting. John Hipp spoke for nearly an hour.

The committee having in charge the Art loan exhibition wish to give notice that owners of paintings on who wish them exhibited must notify the committee to-day, as it is the last opportunity. The collecting of pictures will begin to-day, and none will be received after Monday.

Haverly's minstrels appeared at the opera house last night in a return engagement. They were greeted by a large audience, despite the inclement weather. The GAZETTE cannot report the opinion of the audience, as it left before the performance was concluded, but from the applause which greeted the specialties and the general hilarity which prevailed throughout the house, it is safe to say that the audience enjoyed the entertainment.

An enterprise that has just started in this county and bids fair to be a success is the new soda water and bottling works formerly established in Cripple Creek. The firm of Dean & Mann will hereafter take contracts for charging soda fountains and will furnish ginger ale, root beer and other such drinks on order. It now looks as though there would be a very bitter fight between Tammany and the County Democracy for the possession of the city and county offices of New York. If so, it is likely to result in sweeping for the republican national ticket. If the feeling gets very bitter each will trade the national and state ticket for the city and county ticket.

The prohibitionists in this county have brought out a county ticket. But it cannot affect materially the situation in this county. It would be much better for these gentlemen to go into republican convention and do what resolutions in favor of high license and local option. This county could be carried on that line, and a long step would be made toward controlling the liquor traffic in this state.

Mr. Watterson, the well known correspondent of the Louisville Courier Journal, has returned from an extended trip through New York, Connecticut and New Jersey. He gives it as his opinion that Connecticut will go republican, that New Jersey will go democratic and that the result in New York will be known when the votes are counted and not before. Considering this is from a correspondent to a democratic paper, it is a great admission. The democrats did not consider New York among the doubtful states in the beginning and made their bets accordingly. But now they do not care to make more than even bets.

Some people consider that a man shows his independence by simply acting against his own interests, without having any noble unselfish motive. A man of ordinary common sense, however, would say that he was a fool. Just now, though the intolerant efforts of Chairman Brice, several negro conventions have been held through the country to work up sentiment in behalf of Senator Thurman who on the 5th of August 1867, expressed the following views regarding the colored man:

"Just as firmly as I believe that the negro race is not capable of self-government, and, in the light of all experience, I certainly do believe that just so firmly do I believe that the white race is the superior, and if that be true, I am not quite sure that it is not the purpose of almighty God, for His own wise purposes, the made inferior race."

The democrats say that a negro is asserting his manhood by voting the democratic ticket.

The Denver News publishes an open letter to the Hon. John M. Thurston the general attorney for the Union Pacific Railway Company signed by C. S. Thomas chairman of the democratic state central committee. It is one of the meanest and most contemptible pieces of demagogism that ever was uttered by a man. Mr. Thurston occupies a position which any lawyer of ability and honorable character in Nebraska would be glad to obtain. It practically puts him at the head of the profession in that state. There might not, therefore, be any dishonor in accepting the position. We are not aware that up to the present time Mr. Thurston has done anything which has made any judge in Nebraska seriously consider the propriety of preventing his practicing in his court. People who live in glass houses should not throw stones.

The tariff bill which has just been reported to the senate was not drawn up behind closed doors as the world thinks as was that notorious document the Mills bill. Every citizen has had an opportunity to be heard and the best interests of each have been considered. As a result the bill lacks the partisan storm and sectional nature of the house bill. The measure, country combined, shows what can be accomplished when the best interests of the people are considered, and not the interests of a few. It is not a bill for the benefit of the manufacturer alone, but both industries have been treated consistently and the framers have had a tariff for protection only, and not for revenue only.

Mr. Job Cooper made his opening speech of the campaign at Monument on Friday. He made a good argument from his point of view in support of the principles of the platform on which he stands. This is the other side of the question from a man who has been so long and so intimately connected with the interests and industries of the state cannot fail to appeal to the common sense of the people. It is true that Mr. Cooper does not bring to his support that protectionist oratory which a long experience in the criminal court gives his adversary, the benefit of but his arguments delivered in this simple and convincing way are none the less impressive. His successful business life gives promise of a business administration which is what Colorado needs.

Judge Forsker was very severely criticised, and we think justly for the way in which he waved the bloody shirt in the court [illegible]. Democratic independent papers were very much disgusted by this. But we have not yet seen in these papers that criticism Governor Forsker any campaign on the utterances of the same character in the south. Governor Fitz Hugh Lee at the unveiling of a monument to the confederate dead at Stanton, Virginia, has given the following views of secession:

"I want to see such a sentiment in the minds of this country as will touch the truth to believe it in their fathers fought for a constitutional right. What was the right. The right to secede. It was not the right to abolish slavery. [illegible] they said we would never have been forced. The most [illegible] not [illegible] agreed with those of us who say that there was nothing in the constitution to prevent any state from withdrawing from the union, and therefore the war [illegible] Jefferson Davis was correct [illegible] for the [illegible] of the south stood against the abolitionists whose purpose was not only wrong but also unconstitutional."

Governor Lee brings up in the above the whole point of the recent rebellion. The question was not only decided by arms but the majority of the people of the country said that the secessionist was right. The whole question was fully discussed in the United States senate when Webster delivered his famous speech. "The constitution not a compact between sovereign states" since then the majority of the people of the country have considered that this was a nation. The minority went on the other side differently and resorted to arms and were defeated. This ought to have ended the discussion. The people who are not ready to accept this conclusion ought to emigrate. Certainly no man has a right to hold public office and hold to the right of any state, whenever it chooses, to dissolve this union. It is entirely just to acknowledge the devotion and patriotism of the men who fought on the southern side. But it is not right to say that they had a righteous cause. If it [illegible] east and should be split up into petty jealous, warring states and there should be still a chance for the enfranchisement of negroes under the shadow of Bunker Hill monument.
